Performance & Commentary

The NAV increased this month from £127.00 to £127.96 (+96bps), which represents another record high. There was no change in the asset allocation of the fund. The monthly return benefited from receipt of some capital repayments at par that had been valued at a discount during the first national lockdown.

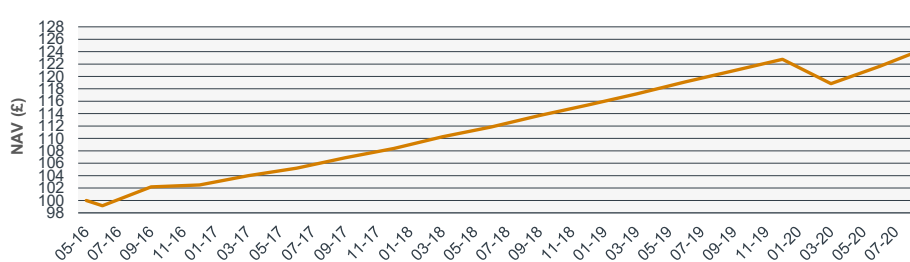

During December, the fund rolled over a note issued by SRT Marine Systems for two years at 8%. SRT is an AIM quoted business which develops Maritime Domain Awareness systems. The company has a steady equipment business and a growing pipeline of systems installations that it expects to secure when COVID regulations are eased.

The fund is currently conducting due diligence on a new issuer, which plans to launch an MTN programme in February. The fund is therefore holding a higher than usual portion of its portfolio in cash (14%) with a view to diversifying its holdings by participating in this transaction.

Upon a realisation or other disposal of shares UK resident investors are liable for income tax on any increase in NAV. There are no UK tax reporting requirements for a tax year in which there have not been any disposals of shares.

Risk Factors

The fund seeks to reduce portfolio risk through diversification of investments by issuer, the active management of maturities in the loan note portfolio and robust security arrangements in the terms of loan notes. However, investors should note that:

- There is no active market for loan notes and liquidity is dependent on identifying a buyer. Consequently, investors may experience delays in redeeming shares if redemption requests exceed the cash resources of the fund.
- Loan notes may experience events of default, in which case the fund may incur a capital loss or be required to enter a re-structuring process to recover its capital.
